

Horse Chestnut Leaf Miner Trap

Place the Cameraria ohridella pheromone lure in the cage and seal with cap. Insert into hole at the top of the lid and push down, making sure the cage is secure.

Insert strap into holes at either side of the lid. NOTE: once inserted, the strap cannot be removed

Place the cone inside the bucket

For ease of fixing, hold the strap gently to one side, take the bucket and line up with the lid (see asterisk on diagram). Push together ensuring a secure fit. Slip clear strap between grooves at base of bucket

Hang with string from loops on the top of the lid.

A small amount of water with detergent can also be added to the trap to ensure adults do not escape. Each pheromone lure will last about 6 weeks. After 6 weeks remove the trap and empty its contents. Add a fresh lure and put back in the tree. This should be repeated at least 3 times from April to the end of August. In the Autumn the traps can be removed, cleaned and stored for use the following season with newly purchased pheromone lures.

Hang the assembled trap in the most accessible lower branches within the canopy of the tree. Oecos 2010
